OFFICER'S REPORTS

President's Report

Hello everyone!

I wanted to say how sorry I am that I couldn't be at the Christmas Party, but I was having a party of my own. It was a COVID 19 Party. I was in bed for 2 weeks. I have gotten free of it now for 3 weeks. I am looking forward to seeing everyone at our next meeting on Jan 14th. at Cocos and passing the gavel to Sam Wheeler. Looking forward to his leadership. See you there!!

Editor's Report

December closed out the year 2022 with family gathering around the Christmas Tree, dinner, and gifts. Gene and I had a discussion between a party with family or a party with friends. Both were equally important to us; the deciding factor was we had not seen our family with Gene being sick. It was so much fun looking at the pictures of the Studebaker Christmas Party and seeing how much fun each was having.

January 14, 2023, is the date of the first meeting of the year. I will say Gene and I will be attending.

Thanks to Debbie Stockey for taking the pictures of BCOIE Members and the decorations.

New Year's Resolutions

<https://parade.com/969195/megangrant/new-years-resolutions-ideas/>

1. Focus on passion, not the way you look.
2. Work out to feel good, and to be thinner.
3. Give one complement a day.
4. Go a whole day without checking your email.
5. Do Random Acts of Kindness,
6. Go someplace you have never been before.
7. Clean out the clutter.
8. Turn off your phone one night a week.
9. Volunteer
10. Write down one thing you are grateful for every night.

11. Talk to yourself with kindness
12. Call a friend instead of texting them.
13. Don't buy things you do not need
14. Keep a journal
15. Take the stairs... it is good for your body
16. Stay in touch with people no matter what.
17. Send handwritten letters.
18. Pay it forward.
19. You can add your own resolution.
2023 will be a BETTER YEAR THAN 2022

Video: Presenting the 1963 Studebaker Lark

For 1963, Studebaker brought some new features and new messaging to its distinctive Lark model line. Here's the lowdown from South Bend.

There's some key messaging right up front in this 1963 Studebaker spot that's difficult to miss. Clearly, the Indiana automaker was carving out a new market niche for its Lark model line. Introduced in 1959 as a compact, the Lark was treated to new Brooks Stevens-designed sheet metal for 1962, which added nearly a foot in length along with a classic Mercedes-style grille. "Not a compact, not a big car, the Lark is utterly different," the company asserted, carefully slotting the Lark above the Detroit compacts but more efficient in packaging than the traditional full-size models.

To further distinguish the Lark from the Big Three compacts, which tended toward the cheap and bare, Studebaker took pains to offer added value with premium carpeting and fabrics, extra convenience features, and full instrumentation—and they're all showcased here. One attractive option that's prominently pictured but not mentioned is the Skytop folding sunroof (supplied by Golde, a predecessor of American Sunroof). But despite the thoughtful marketing, Studebaker continued its tumble through the sales charts and alas, 1963 would be the company's last full model year manufacturing automobiles in America. But for the time being, the carmaker continued to offer an upbeat message. Video below.
